A Wise Judge

One day as Bao Gong and his guards were passing by a marketplace, they heard a young boy crying for help. Bao Gong stopped and asked, "What's wrong? Why are you crying?" The little boy told him that someone had stolen his coins while he was selling doughnuts. "Sir, please help me. My poor mother will have no money to buy food today," he pleaded.

Pointing to a big rock, Bao Gong commanded his guards, "Take this thief to my court!"

People flocked to his court to listen to his judgment.

"Beat the rock for stealing!" he angrily ordered the guards.

When the people saw the guards beating the rock, they burst into laughter.

Turning to the people, he shouted fiercely, "How dare you insult me! Guards cast them into prison!" When the people heard this, they knelt and begged for mercy. "All right, you can pay a fine of twenty coins instead.

Throw your money into that pot of water."

As the people obediently dropped the coins into the pot, Bao Gong suddenly pointed to a man and shouted, "Arrest that thief! His coppers are oily. They belong to that boy selling doughnuts!"
